Death Takes C L Knight of Akron and Elbert Baker of Cleveland

BOTH INFLUENTIAL MEN

Former Widely Known as Militant Writer and Ohio Political Figure.

By The Associated Press

AKRON O Sept 27—Charles Landon Knight 66 a militant journalist and an influential figure in state and national political circles died last night after an illness of two years

As editor and publisher of the Akron Beacon Journal and publisher of the Massillon Independent and as insurgent congressman during one term, he became known as a picturesque crusading writer the foe of what he saw as party bossism and of bureaucracy a newspaper builder and at one time a leader in the struggle to reorganize the Republican party in Ohio

Before he began his editorial and newspaper career in the 90's he had received a law degree from Columbia university had traveled through Europe writing articles for American magazines and had practiced law in Bluefield W Va

From 1896 to 1900 he was an editorial writer for the Philadelphia Times In 1900 he became assistant editor of the Woman's Home Companion and was its editor-in-chief when he joined Major T J Kirkpatrick in buying the Beacon Journal in 1903

In 1912 he first drew notice as a militant editor At that time he threw his support to Roosevelt in the Bull Moose movement Two years later he was named vice

Plain Dealer Executive Dies

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND O Sept 27—Elbert Hall Baker who in his own words liked "to see a paper striving to improve the community died last night after 35 years of planning and building for the Cleveland Plain Dealer and the city itself He was 79 years old

He was chairman of the board of the Plain Dealer Publishing Co and a leader in the newspaper field throughout the country He was a director of The Associated Press for 17 years

From the time he and Charles E Kennedy leased the Plain Dealer from L E Holden in 1898 to operate it on a profit sharing basis as a "sporting proposition —to see if they could bring the animal to life"—Baker poured all his efforts into making the paper successful

Ill But Short Time

Active at work until 10 days ago he underwent an abdominal operation last Friday. He suffered a relapse Monday night from which he failed to recover

As a progressive civic leader he heartily backed the "Mail plan" for Cleveland public buildings, originated a plan for settlement of a 10-year traction war, helped obtain the National Republican convention for Cleveland in 1924, was for years a leader in community fund drives.

Baker was born in Norwalk, O.

He is survived by his widow and four children, Mrs. Louise Hastings of Cleveland; Frank Smith Baker, joint owner with his father of the Morning and Sunday Ledger and the News-Tribune of Tacoma, Wash.; Elbert Hall Baker, Jr., and Allen Fletcher Baker, publisher of the Eugene, Ore., Register-Guard.

Ten Desperate Indiana Criminals Evade Police Traps Twice

DISTRICT IS TERRORIZED

Philadelphia Pen Scene of Rioting, Warden Hurt in Clash.

By The Associated Press

MICHIGAN CITY Ind Sept 27—Ten desperate convicts fleeing from the Indiana prison where they escaped armed yesterday eluded elaborate police traps today

The desperadoes were believed to have separated into three groups Four of the men still held captive Sheriff Charles Neel of Covington Ind Two other victims whose automobiles the felons commandeered had been released

One of the police traps that failed was in woods near Chesterton Scores of vigilantes searched through barns farm houses fields and the woods failed to overtake the four fugitives who had the sheriff as hostage

They had wrecked the sheriff's car near Wheeler as well as another automobile they commandeered

Clerk May Die

Physicians said Finley P Carson a prison clerk shot in the hip and abdomen during the escape might die

Plans were under way for an inquiry as to how the convicts obtained arms marched diagonally across the whole prison grounds and out the front door without meeting opposition from guards who line the high wall of the prison

Five others were reported seen near Wenatah where they remained until nightfall last night They terrorized William Werner and his family and then fled in the direction of Lafayette Ind still using an automobile taken from Herbert Van Valkenberg of Oswego Ill

Punishment Leads Revolt in Cells

PHILADELPHIA Sept 27—Flaming riot set off by revolt against punishment for bitter convict fights swept Eastern penitentiary last night throwing the prison into one of the worst turmoils in its century of history

While smoke and flames from burning mattresses arose in cells and corridors practically the entire prison population of about 1500 long timers for more than three hours kept the institution in disorder screaming and smashing cell furnishings

Warden Herbert J (Hard Boiled) Smith groping through the smoke in an attempt to quell the riot was almost felled by two blows on the head by a piece of steel cot wielded through cell bars by an enraged convict Fifteen stitches were taken in his wounds

Quelled by Firemen

More than 300 city police state troopers who dashed here and three fire companies finally brought the riot under control by half-drowning some convicts with streams of water from high pressure hose clubbing those who resisted

Tells of Care Taken Against Ohio Pen Breaks

Precautions taken at the Ohio penitentiary in Columbus to prevent such outbreaks as occurred in the Michigan City Ind, penitentiary yesterday afternoon were disclosed this morning by P E Thomas warden of the Ohio penitentiary who is attending the Knights of Pythias convention here

Each morning before the prisoners are released from the cells a detail of guards inspects all the grounds adjacent to the prison walls to detect if any weapons have been thrown over in the night, Warden Thomas said

Every truck which enters the prison yard is closely inspected, both as to its load and its undercarriage, to determine if any guns or weapons have been carried inside the prison, he said. Every package entering the prison is searched by prison guards before being delivered to the prisoners.

The warden added that if a visitor has been in certain rooms of the prison, those rooms are also searched before prisoners are allowed to enter them.

Similar precautions are taken along every line, the warden said, to prevent smuggling of guns or weapons which prisoners use in attempting a

MT. GILEAD FAIR UNDER WAY TODAY

Threatening Weather Fails To Slow Up Preparations for Event.

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, Sept. 27—Threatening weather Tuesday night failed to slow up preparations for the Morrow county fair, Floyd Rinehart, secretary, announcing that the number of exhibits will probably exceed the number of entries in previous fairs. The fair got under way officially today with all exhibits in place.

Though no school parade will be held on Friday as in other years the schools have prepared exhibits and each consolidated school with an instrumental musical organization will send a number of boys and girls to complete the 8-piece school band which will present a concert Friday morning at 10:30 o'clock on the North Public square and later will play at the fair grounds during the racing program.

Home Is Dangerous Place, Ohio Safety Records Show

Accidents in the home is one subject covered by speakers in Marion's countywide safety campaign being sponsored this week by the Y's Men's Service club and the division of safety and hygiene of the state industrial commission. P. B. Martens of Akron, safety engineer, discusses home safety in this article.

It should be written "Home Sweet—second most dangerous place on earth—Home," if safety records are read before this favorite old song is sung.

According to figures on accidents in the home, furnished by P. B. Martens of Akron, safety engineer for the division of safety and hygiene of the state industrial commission, homes were second to automobiles last year as the scene of fatal accidents.

Mr. Martens, testing after one of a series of safety talks he is giving in Marion this week in connection with the countywide safety campaign, asserted that 28,000 fatal accidents occurred in homes each year. This toll is second only to automobiles, which claimed 29,500 lives in the same period, he said.

Accidents in the home, Mr. Martens said, are caused chiefly by carelessness and lack of proper attention to the hazards which contribute to mishaps.

High heels contribute to many falls around the home, he said. Other forms of accidents common in homes result from articles placed in such position that they cause one to stumble, the use of improvised "ladders" to hang pictures or reach a high shelf, burns and scalds resulting from carelessness in the kitchen, lack of proper marking of poisons in the medicine cabinet, and the placing of hot ashes in wood receptacles, he added.

The handle of a cooking utensil projecting beyond the edge of the stove is simply an invitation for a child to pull a pan of frying or boiling food upon himself, Mr. Martens said.

If you have children old enough to reach the medicine cabinet but not fully aware of the danger of poisons, run pins through the corks in bottles of poisonous medicines and the children will avoid those bottles, he suggested.

He also warned parents to keep firearms out of reach of their own or visiting children, and to teach children never to take hold of a hanging wire.

Loose rugs on polished floors also contribute to the loss of lives in homes, he said.

Jail Prisoner Faints When Handed Wrong Indictment.

By International News Service

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 27—James Richards, 22, fainted when he read the words "did unawfully kill" in the indictment handed to him tornight the bars of the county jail here.

He was under arrest for robbery, and jail authorities had handed him an indictment intended for James Richards, 29, who is charged with killing a woman in a hit-skip accident.

When the younger James was revived and the mistake was explained to him, he faced the future with less terror of the penalty he might have to pay for the alleged robbery.

Varied News

(Will Rogers Special)

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Sept. 27—Roscoe Turner crossed the country in ten hours. That's bringing towns the close together. Railroads are finally waking up. They are building a new train now that wasn't modeled in the 90's.

But we have to take the bad news with the good. Ring Lardner died. You can always get better planes, better trains, but we can't get another Ring Lardner.

What a privilege to have known him since those good old days when he wrote sketches for Florenz Ziegfeld's Follies.

In years to come, when libraries put just books in one wing, and literature in the other, you are mighty liable to find Lardner's writings right in with the literature.

Yours,

Harding Memorial Scene of K. of P. Ritual Service

A part of Pythian ritual was given before a public audience yesterday afternoon as more than 1,000 Knights, Pythian Sisters, and their friends gathered at the Harding memorial.

The ritual, "The Lesson of Friendship," exemplifying the friendship between the heroic characters, Damon and Pythias, was presented by a degree team from Canby Lodge No. 51 of Marion. It followed the conferring of the page rank upon a class of candidates in a secret ritual in the memorial interior. This was the first time a President's tomb has been used for degree work of the order.

Harding Memorial Class

The class will be known as the Harding Memorial class. In addition to the 15 candidates, includes eight Marion men who have completed the degree work but were given membership in the class. They are Paul Fetter of 183 Bain avenue, Gene Geissler of 124 Merchant avenue, H. L. Arbogast of 510 Mt. Vernon avenue, Oscar Freshour of 650 Cleveland avenue, F. W. Bacon of 356 South Vine street, M. E. Baldwin of 196 East Washington street, Guy C. Stoltz Jr. of Delaware avenue and Arden Millisor of Bexley avenue.

Others in the class are Charles Leatherman and Vaughn Long, both in Springfield, James Bateman of Cleveland, C. L. McDaniel and Benjamin Bennett, both of Columbus, John Eddy of Bellaire, Joe Clauss of Dayton, Bernard Rogers of Columbus, Paul Meerman, Frank Riddle and George F. Doley all of Cleveland, Kenneth Smith of Logan, Harold E. Thomas, Herbert Krebs, Ray Allen, Police Chief William E. Marks, all of Canby Lodge No. 51 of Marion, Ralph Andersun of Shelby and George Shank Jr. of Springfield.

Speakers at Memorial

Speakers at the memorial exercises were Grand Chancellor F. G. Sparks of Mt. Vernon, Harvey R. Snyder of Cleveland, grand chancellor-elect ,and Hector S. Young, Marion attorney and former law partner of the late Judge Charles L. Justice of Marion, who was grand chancellor of the state order.

Chancellor Sparks praised the late President Harding not only as a great president and a great leader but also as a true personfication of the Pythian precepts, friendship and fraternalism. Mr. Young and Mr. Snyder also praised Mr. Harding and paid honor to the memory of Judge Justice. Mr. Young, in presenting certificates of the page rank to the candidates, urged them to dedicate their lives to friendship. The hope of our country in these troubled times lies in brotherhood, Mr. Young said, and friendship is the cornerstone of the brotherhood of man.

A similar belief was voiced by Mr. Sparks in declaring that a country is measured by the strength and courage of its men, who mould that country's destiny. The precepts for leading lives of friendship, as shown in the afternoon's services, all tend to add to that courage and strength, he said.

Officers giving the ritual work for the page rank were James Dunn Jr. of Cleveland, supreme chancellor, who served as chancellor commander; Edgar W. Ellis of Columbus, secretary of the supreme tribunal, as vice chancellor; Dr. A. P. Truby of Dover, past grand chancellor, as prelate, due to the illness of William F. Bruce of Mt. Gilead, supreme representative; J. K. Dustman of Youngstown, who was installed this morning as grand outer guard, who served as master at arms; Judge A. H. Kunkle of Springfield, supreme representative, as inner guard; and N. E. Kidd of Marietta, supreme representative, as outer guard.

Henry O'Dowd of Canby lodge of Marion was chairman of the Harding memorial class of candidates.

Boys' Band Plays

The boys' band from the Pythian Children's home at Springfield played at intervals during the memorial ceremonies and later gave a brief concert on the courthouse esplanade, which was cut short by rain.

The degree team from Canby lodge that dramatized, in costume, the "Lesson of Friendship," consisted of S. M. McIntire, William E. Fetter, C. W. O'Dowd, Henry H. O'Dowd, Carl Rieger, Lloyd Amrine, Ora Howser, Carl Tozzer, Arden Millisor, Ray Edmondson, Joe Kerr, Thomas Glaze, Roy Chapman, E. E. Heller, Charles Farut and Thew Wiltred.

FLASHES OF LIFE

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO—Mrs. Milton Perlman said she found the grounds for her divorce action in the lining of her husband's coat sleeve. It was his pay and she alleged in her suit that he had hidden it there instead of giving it to her to pay bills.

NEW YORK—Into a discussion of "codes for housewives" Mrs. Oliver Harriman jumps to lend a helping hand to husbands.

"I do not believe in asking a man to help wipe dishes," she said in commenting on proposed "codes" which had asked just that. "If he works all day and earns the living that is enough."

NEW OIL AND GAS WELL IS DRILLED

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, Sept. 27—A new well was brought in on the A. G. Veith farm, east of here, by Temple and Kennedy. It is estimated that the well will produce over 100 barrels of oil a day and about 60,000 cubic feet of gas a day. The first well drilled on the Veith farm some weeks ago is now turning into an oil producer and is yielding 25 barrels of oil per day. The well came in as a 3,500,000 cubic foot gaser.

DANCE CALLED OFF

GALION, Sept. 27 — A called meeting of Wakutasi Camp Fire girls was held Tuesday night at the home of the guardian, Miss Lorimer Hubley. It was decided to cancel plans for dance Friday night at the Elks' club.

A new radio set is incorporated in a portable fireplace in which electric lights simulate dancing flickering among [illegible] wood.

First Issue of Harding School Paper Out Friday

The first issue of the 1933-34 edition of the Harding Herald, high school weekly paper, will be off the press Friday. Copies will be complimentary to all students at the high school and senior high school pupils at the Thomas A. Edison Junior High school.

Miss Barbara Fralich of W. Blaine avenue and Otis Wetzel of 314 Wilkinson street were recently selected to edit the Herald during the year. Miss Fralich, in charge of the first issue, is assisted by Miss Trella Hemsley, one of last year's editors, and by two journalism classes.

The issue will contain greetings from Superintendent George A. Bowman and Principal K. H. Marshall, an interview with Coach Gerald F. Oberst, feature material of particular interest to sophomores and a larger column than usual of Edison school news, together with the standard columns of school news.

The editors were chosen from a group of students who wrote on "If I Were Editor of the Herald." Selection was made on the basis of the writing of the theme and the dependability, originality and spirit of cooperation of the students, gained through a consultation with the teachers.

A new position, that of superintendent of advertising, has been added to the staff this year. John Oliver, a member of the faculty, will fill this position, working with the advertising staff of four boys who worked on the Herald last year. They are Samuel Birnbaum, John Warner, Donald Quaintance and Vikki Johnson.

William Smith has been named business manager. His assistants will be chosen later from the present journalism classes. E. H. Shade will continue as financial advisor.

The Oct. 6 issue will be edited by Miss Fralich and the Oct. 13 issue by Wetzel. The first period class will work with Miss Fralich and the second period students will work with Wetzel.

Tryouts for editorship of the Quiver, the high school yearbook will be held later in the year, Miss Lucile Foreman, instructor of journalism, said yesterday.

Can there be any stronger recommendation for a car than this

NRA

CHEVROLET America can't be fooled when it comes to spotting the best "buy" in any field. America knows too much about motor cars for that. So when one certain car wins almost as many buyers as the next two put together, you know the answer: IT MUST BE BETTER. And that's what the new Chevrolet Six most certainly is.

Better looking—it has long, sleek, ear-streamed lines—Fisher's smartest styling. Chevrolet has better bodies—they're built not just of steel alone, but of steel reinforced by a sturdy hardwood frame. Chevrolet has a better engine—six cylinders for lowest gas and oil consumption, cushion balancing for killing vibration. And Chevrolet gives better value—a long line-up of features, including the Starterator, Syncro-Mesh gear-shift, Free Wheeling, which no other low-priced car can match.

Now, in September, is the time to start thinking about a new car for winter! And when you do so, think of the way Chevrolet is leading all other cars in sales. What more could you possibly ask as a recommendation for a car than that?

Homemaker's Question Box

Question—Are there some particular precautions to be considered in using a gas cooking range?

Answer—First of all the gas range should be connected to a good flue which greatly aids in carrying off fumes. The range should be operated in a well ventilated room, for carbon monoxide is often formed by incomplete combustion in gas stoves.

Burners on any gas range should be so adjusted that the flames are correct. This not only makes for safety in use but assures maximum heat from the flame. If the tips of the inner cone of the flame touch the bottom of the utensil, incomplete combustion may result.

One should be wary of purchasing a solid top for a gas range which has been specifically made for open grates, because of difficulty in securing complete combustion. If one desires a solid top range, it is better to buy one that is so built, for the chances for complete combustion are much better than where the solid top is "grafted on" the other type.

In lighting a gas oven it is safest to open the oven door before lighting the burner to permit freeing of any possible escaped gas. Light a match, turn the petcock and, after counting one-two-three, apply the match. There is no explosion, no trouble, no scare. Too often gas is turned on before the match is lighted, liberating unburned gas in the oven which explodes when the match is lighted.

They show why
genuine
BAYER ASPIRIN
is rated Fastest Safe Relief from Pain

IN 2 SECONDS BY STOP WATCH
A Genuine Bayer Aspirin Tablet Starts to Disintegrate and go to Work

Drop a Bayer Aspirin Tablet into a glass of water.

By the time it hits the bottom of the glass it is disintegrating.

What happens in these glasses happens in your stomach

Quicker Relief Now from Pain

The pictures above tell, in a simple way, the reason GENUINE BAYER ASPIRIN is rated the Fastest, Safe Relief known for pain.

Note that a Bayer Aspirin Tablet starts to disintegrate within two seconds after touching moisture—in your stomach just as it does in the glass above.

Hence, a Bayer Aspirin Tablet starts to "take hold" of even a severe headache or neuritis a few minutes after taking.

Keep this in mind when in pain. BAYER brings the quick relief you want. And the SAFE relief, too. For Genuine Bayer Aspirin does not harm the heart.

So—always say "Bayer Aspirin" when you buy. Then you'll be sure to get the Quick relief and Safety of the real Bayer article.

He could almost ... ...hear her breath of relief as the door swung to. Nesta never came near him.

He lay in the darkened room and wrestled with the thing that had happened to him. Presently the sheet bank horror passed. He wasn't mad. His head ached but he could order and control his thoughts in a perfectly normal manner. He could repeat the multiplication table and the capitals of all the countries in Europe.

He knew all the old nary things which don't need thinking about but he didn't know anything about himself. The minute he began to think about himself the fog came up and choked his mind and with the fog, the horrible panic sense of being lost in empty space.

He forced thought back to the things he knew. He had had a knock on the head. His memory would come back all right if he would let it alone. That was it—he'd got to let it alone—keep himself quiet, eat, sleep, say the multiplication table, conjugate French verbs, count sheep jumping over a hedge.

The sun went behind a cloud, the room darkened. Presently he did sleep, and, sleeping, heard again that voice which he took to be his own. Echoing it he muttered and cried out.

Min ran half way up the stairs and called to Nesta shut in her room.

"Nesta! He's talking to himself!"

There was no answer.

"Nesta! He does frighten me. He just keeps right on. Can't you come down?"

Nesta's door opened. Nesta stood there, harshly contemptuous.

"What a baby you are!"

"He keeps right on talking."

"Well, you needn't take any notice, need you? Go into the kitchen and shut the door!"

With a frightened gasp Min took in the fact that Nesta was dressed for the street.

"You're not going out!"

"Why shouldn't I go out?"

"I can't stay alone here."

"Why, what d'you think he'll do to you?"

"Oh, Nesta, please don't go!"

Nesta pushed past her.

"Don't be a fool, Min!" she said, and ran downstairs.

There were three rooms on the ground floor—kitchen, parlor, and bedroom. The two latter were at the back. Nesta stood for a moment at the foot of the stairs. The vague mutter of a man's voice came along the passage. After a moment's hesitation she walked to the bedroom door and stood there listening with the handle turned and the mutter louder. Every now and then there were words.

"Green—beads——" said the muttering voice. "Finest in the world—no one knows but me—no one—green—like a kid's beads—" Then, with a change of tone, "They'll never find them—nobody'll ever find them—unless I show them how—Emily's dead."

NESTA had pushed the door ajar. If she spoke to him would he answer, or would he wake? Old Caroline Bussell used to say that if you could put a sleeping person's right hand into a basin of cold water without waking them, they would answer you anything in the world you liked to ask. People said she'd done it too, and that was why she had such a hold over Mr. Entwhistle—she'd certainly got something more than a housekeeper's place at the hall.

"Isn't it awful?" said Min's voice at her elbow.

Nesta shut the door and whirled round in a fury.

"Can't you be quiet and stay there," she said, and banged out of the house.

It was a little way in a street of little houses on the outskirts of Wimborough. She turned back, not that she wanted to, in the opposite direction, where the rows of houses gave way to fields and hedges with here and there a cottage or a farmstead.

She was walking to walk the anger out of her. She didn't care where she went or how far. She was walking to get away from the look in Jim's eyes when he heard she was his wife. If she couldn't walk away from the anger which was tearing her she might just as well throw in her hand.

What did it matter how he looked at her as long as she got the emeralds? This was the cool, calculating Nesta who bossed her brother and meant to boss Jim Riddell.

I'm not poison, for him to look at me like that. What'd he do if I checked him out to go on the pay-roll? This was a curious incalculable Nesta who had seen her own refused. This Nesta's hot fancy played with the thought of taking Jim Riddell 20, 30, 40 miles into the country and leaving him nameless, penniless.

She could do it easily enough—another sleeping draught, Tom's car, a quick run out to the marshes on Wimborough common. Wouldn't it be best if he died either? If there was another fog—she pulled herself up with a jerk. And throw away the emeralds? Not much! He knew where they were, and he'd got to say.

She walked on, her mind very busy. Min had got to be kept away from him. Fortunately she was scared to death. She is a fool. But then Tom would marry a fool. He wanted a change after me—someone to make him feel the real man. She gave a laugh of affectionate contempt. "Tom! And how he'll do as I tell him, or he'll know the reason why."

She walked for an hour and came home with her plans made. Tom was back from the garage, and Min was all smiles again.

They left Jim Riddell to himself and turned on the radio in the parlor.

To Be Continued.

Given in Marriage

BY ADELE GARRISON

The young people entertain Madge with details of their unsuccessful chase after the honeymooners.

FORTUNATE it was for me, I fancy, that Marion and the other members of the "mating party" hurried through their midnight supper and returned to the front veranda where my father had watched jealously to see that I drained every drop of the buttermilk he had brought to me. I do not think that otherwise I could have endured in silence the waiting for Junior and Roderick to return.

But when they came trooping back from the kitchen gayly assuring me that they had left Katie's domain exactly as they found it, I forced myself to find respite in listening to their account of the futile pursuit of Mary and Noel.

A Futile Chase

"They certainly were slick," Bob said. "We tried to trail their tires but they went directly to the main road, and it was impossible after that. We got almost to Patchogue inquiring of everybody awake along the route if such a nifty car had been seen and then we awoke to the probability of their rushing over to Riverhead and taking any one of the routes out from there or they could even have stayed at one of the North Shore hotels. Of course we're not saying anything about double crossers or people of that ilk, but we're thinking a lot."

He sent a burlesqued glare at Marion and Ronald who returned his look defiantly. I spoke quickly, for I did not know what touch of pique might lie beneath the implied accusation—incidentally, the truth—that Marion and Ronald had connived at the unmolested escape of the bride and groom.

In one way I'm not sorry, they got away," I said. "If they'd been a chance of your catching them, Avis Arlen would have gone with you and—"

Avis Catches "Her Man"

I hesitated, and Carolyn finished the sentence for me.

"And that wouldn't have been so good, not so good at all," she said sapiently, nodding her curly head.

"I'm glad they got away without Avis Arlen getting in any more of her stiletto work," her brother acquiesced.

"By the way, where is the fair Avis?" Bob asked. "I can't see her going for a moonlight drive to the beach without some man hitched fast to the rumble seat."

I was glad of the semi-darkness, for I was conscious and furious at the knowledge that my cheeks were involuntarily flaming as I answered him.

"She did have a man all to herself," I said, trying to make my voice insouciant.

"Who?"

"What man?"

"But there was no young man left!"

The excited exclamations tumbled from the lips of Ronald, Bob and Carolyn. Marion's comment was slower but more effective.

A Shanghaied Major

"But there was a rich, handsome and attractive bachelor left behind," she said. "Don't tell me, Auntie Madge, that she shanghaied Major Grantland into taking her to the beach?"

I found my lips twitching at the aptness of her phrase. "Shanghaied" was exactly the word to describe the method by which Avis Arlen had secured Hugh Grantland's escort for the drive. But of course, I could not admit that to the laughing young things surrounding my couch.

"Fie, fie," I said, with smiling reproof. "That isn't a nice word to use in connection with Avis. Major Grantland did take her to the beach in his car, but he certainly wasn't 'shanghaied' into doing it."

Marion whirled and pointed an accusing forefinger at me.

"You can't tell me that Major Grantland asked her to go with him," she cried.

ARE WOMEN GOOD SPORTS?

Can women "take it?" Are they good sports?

Ever since a famous tennis champion walked off the courts without congratulating the winner, men have been amusing themselves with that question.

Most business and professional women are the best sports in the world, because they have been out and battled with life, and still retain the tenderness and sympathy of women, at heart.

During my long illness, last winter, my women friends stood by me, cheered me and pulled me through. That's one kind of sportsmanship. Most men just "can't be bothered" with a nervous or ailing woman. She gives them the jitters. When it comes to endurance, patience and understanding, women are splendid sports.

On the other hand, it must take super-sportsmanship for the beaten, blood-soaked loser in a prize-fight to stagger to his feet and hold out his hand to the man who has just broken his nose or knocked out his teeth. That's another kind of sportsmanship.

Recently I wrote a series of four short articles (designed only to amuse) in which I described the "Perfect Bore." They were entitled respectively, "How To Shake a Woman," "How To Get Rid of a Man," "How To Get Rid of a Husband" and "How To Get Rid of a Wife."

The first three were apparently accepted as satire and brought me only bouquets. But, believe it or not, that last one (How To Get Rid of a Wife) brought down on my head a barrage of brickbats from my own sex. An avalanche of letters, accusing me of everything from trying to wreck the great American home to "condoning the encouraging murder." Perhaps I should have taken a tip from the small boy, and labeled that article "This is a joke."

Since the Wall Street Follies of 1929, thousands of women have gallantly stood by their ruined and defeated husbands and shown their magnificent sportsmanship, by putting their shoulders to the wheel and helping to bring home the bacon. Every man who went down in the big crash knows, by this time, whether or not he married a "good sport."

On the other hand, the alimony jails have been filled with victims, who could not continue to supply their ex-wives with the usual luxuries. And some women have come to regard breach-of-promise suits as a profitable and perfectly legitimate means of livelihood. Rotten sports!

Oh, yes, there are all kinds of sportsmanship; and sportsmanship is not a matter of sex.

There are good sports and poor sports of both sexes. But, whether you are a woman or a [illegible] Cross [illegible] of a [illegible] finest things [illegible] [illegible]

Daily Guide to Health

Cause of the "Blues."

I have been asking myself why it is that so many persons are dissatisfied with most of the time in the dumps.

Sometimes there may be ... health ... the cause of ... state or is it the ... way ...

But ... physical ... Many of them appear perfectly well, and, on careful medical ... all we can find not ... They ... they not cheerful, and ...

I ... that ... two ... not ... Perhaps they suffer ... way ... be called "brain fatigue."

Of course the brain substance is a part of the ... depends on the heart and ... in the digestion, ... a ... of nerve energy in common with the rest of the body.

But one may be perfectly normal in every part and yet have his legs give out if he runs too fast or too far. His heart may rebel if he moves too ...

It is exactly ... way with the mind. If it is ... too strenuously, if it is kept at work for many more than seven hours, of course it gets tired.

What are the symptoms of a tired mind? A ... of irritability, irritableness, petulance, moodiness, readiness to ... weariness, unreasonableness, sleepiness ... and perhaps ...

It is not ... thing to have too many irons in the fire. Change ... and ... that ... is said. But I ... ve there is some ... with that philosophy. ... believe everybody ... a vacation, a hobby ... he can turn for relief ... ... that many natural, ... persons are attempting ... many tasks to keep ...

There is a temptation for ... alert persons to become ... interested in a variety of ... things. They should be content ... the jack of all trades ... ... It is impossible ... all the tasks to which ... could set himself, and ... do.

Contentment of mind will never come to that sane and sensible person who sets the limits ... his undertakings. He must choose a chief task and relentlessly deny himself access to others.

To follow that program is the surest path to success, and better than that it makes possible a real entrance into the natural pleasures that should be a part of every really full life.

Another saying is that "all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." Without reasonable indulgence in recreation a boy can be otherwise than dull and stupid. I say nothing of having to be endured in spite of his company.

To have cheerfulness, good nature and a smiling countenance there must be ... a degree of frivolity. There will be no stomach for this if the mind is worn to a frazzle in a vain attempt to carry on a half dozen serious undertakings. As I see it the natural pleasures must be included if there is to be contentment of mind.

The Stars Say

For Thursday, Sept. 28

Another day of heightened ambition and glorious rewards is forecast by the powerful influences of beneficent Jupiter in mundane affairs this propitious conjunction is strongly enhanced by the favorable aspect of the Luminaries. This promises the preferment, favors or substantial assistance of employers, superiors or those in places of power and authority. It is a time for reaching high goals, but be on guard against trickery and deception and be careful in entering new ventures.

Those whose birthday it is may be assured of the fruition of high ambitions and cherished plans with probable promotion, favors or honors at the hands of high places.

A child born on this day should be ambitious, adventurous, efficient and should attain high place and the favor of those in power but it should be warned against impetuous moves and sudden changes.

Notable nativity: George Clemenceau, French War Lord.

Practical Politicians.

The "practical" side of Tammany Hall, as contrasted to political idealism, has been illustrated during the terms of the two preceding Democratic presidents since the Civil war. Grover Cleveland antagonized Tammany as "reform" governor of New York and continued his hostility as president. Woodrow Wilson, likewise, found it impossible to be friendly as president to an organization whose methods he had opposed as a governor. In both cases, Tammany fought fire with fire, refusing to be friendly with politicians who were unfriendly to it.

President Roosevelt is contributing to the developing tradition of friction between Tammany and Democratic presidents. As an upstate "reform" Democrat, he was not identified with the Hall during the early part of his political career. Later, through his connections with Alfred E. Smith, he was brought closer to the organization, but whatever support he had gained disappeared when James J. Walker resigned after the Seabury investigation.

The President's political general, James J. Farley, has been closely identified with Edward J. Flynn, Democratic leader of the Bronx and an enemy of Tammany Hall's present leadership. Mr. Farley, as distributor of patronage, has been deaf to Tammany requests. No more painful injury, of course, could be given the practical politicians who run the organization. When insult is added to injury in the form of a rumor that Mr. Roosevelt may support a "reform" candidate for mayor against the Tammany candidate, their list of grievances reaches overflow proportions.

For the Democratic party, this is a fortunate set of circumstances. Tammany Hall has stood exposed for many years for what it is—an organization for the purpose of turning government to personal account. No Democratic president any longer can afford to be identified with it. When Tammany chieftains remember that once upon a time their predecessors were all-powerful in national politics, they have cause to reflect wistfully on what they have sacrificed to the frankly practical methods by which they exercise their power.

Why Does He Live?

One must wonder what fate holds in store for the young man who folded his overcoat in a neat bundle and leaped from the 86th floor of the Empire State building, as he supposed, into eternity. It so happened that on the next floor, directly below the point chosen for his jump, was a tiny balcony, the only one on the tower, and landing on this he escaped with only minor hurts.

What force led him to leap from this particular spot and why? When he left the parapet his life ended so far as he was able to determine his destiny but something ruled otherwise and pulled him back into the realm of the living with a bad bump on his head and his name in the papers.

The next stop was an offset 800 feet below the level from which he jumped. But for the little projecting balcony he would have landed there and earth would have been gone and eternity would have been just ahead.

Most men believe there is a reason for all things. Why then this odd miracle which picked a man poised on his way to death and snatched him back to further living? It would be interesting to know in a few years what has happened to him, what he has accomplished that made it worth while to hold him for a fleeting space in this existence and how he regards the strange intervention of fate which gave him a little more living after he had looked death in the face.

For Emergency Only.

The tariff question never is quiet any longer than is required to store up strength for a new outburst. It will be active in administration of the national recovery act.

The lines of the argument are simple and comprehensible. Producers and manufacturers have increased their cost of production. The recovery act gives the President power to provide them with protection against competition from foreign producers and manufacturers. They expect the President to use that power; its exercise is an integral part of the bargain whereby they have agreed to raise costs of production.

Old-fashioned Democrats will have to make the most of it, and the party still includes a number of the old-fashioned variety. Their easiest escape would seem to be the one used so frequently to avoid embarrassment from other phases of the recovery program: Blame it on Republicans.

Founded On Friendship.

Marion this week has had the pleasure of being the meeting place of men and women representing two of the state's outstanding fraternal organizations, the Knights of Pythias and the Pythian Sisters.

The Pythian order, founded upon one of the classic legends of all time, the story of the friendship of Damon and Pythias, has for many years occupied a leading place in the national life. It has filled that role splendidly and through teaching and exemplification of the fine principles upon which it has been based has accomplished immeasurable good not only among the members and their families, but in the country as a whole.

Changing customs and habits, coming naturally with the passing of time, have had an inescapable effect upon many long established institutions and organizations. Some have suffered serious damage and a few have been forced to pass from the scene because new interests have absorbed the attention and activities of the membership. Others have sought to maintain their existance through reorganization and altered functions intended to conform to the modern trend.

Through all these mutations of time, the Order of Knights of Pythias has held steadfast to the purposes and principles which have guided and controlled it from the beginning, and the result has proved the wisdom of this course. It has proved that regardless of what changes may come in habits and modes of living, with new forms of entertainment and recreation substituting the old, there are some things which have such fundamental appeal to the human heart and mind that their enduring qualities are assured.

This obviously is true of the principles around which the Pythian fraternal structure is welded. The theme of friendship, veritably as old as the story of man, should be sufficient to assure absolute permanency to this fraternity and to maintain it as a beneficent influence through all periods of national change and adversity.

This state convention in Marion seems to provide evidence that such is the situation with the Pythian order in Ohio. The activity and interest indicated by the large number of members in attendance is an unmistakable sign of vigorous and progressive organization. Still more convincing is the spirit of friendliness and good fellowship apparent among all of the several hundred visitors who have favored Marion with their presence this week. This personal exemplification of the immutable human principle underlying the organization is the best guarantee of continued advancement and service for Pythianism.

It is needless to say that Marion has enjoyed having representatives of this great fraternity here as its guests. Marion tries to be a friendly city and is certain to be helped along that course through being chosen as the meeting place of men and women representing organizations which teach and practice friendship. We hope that both the Knights of Pythias and the Pythian Sisters have found Marion to be a city where this spirit is fully expressed both in word and deed.

Our Game Resources.

Sportsmen of Ohio will be interested in the recommendation of William Reinhart, the state's director of wild game conservation, that quail be placed on the songbird list again and propagated by the state. This proposal, which will be opposed by some farmers and many bird-lovers, represents the judgment of an authority who has studied the matters and knows what he is talking about.

Quail once provided the favorite sport of many hunters but about 20 years ago these birds were placed on the protected list and since that time their killing has been illegal. It was thought that this plan would aid the coveys to multiply and thus help the farmer solve one of his problems, since the quail is one of the most energetic and voracious devourers of insect pests.

The result has been disappointing. Quail have not increased as anticipated but on the other hand the number of birds has dwindled until they are now almost extinct in parts of the state where they were once plentiful. Natural enemies have proved much more destructive to them than the hunters and some contend that in breeding due to the fact that the coveys were not disturbed has had a harmful effect.

Domestic propagation unquestionably is the only means of restoring the quail. It has worked wonderfully well in the case of ring-necked pheasants which now give Ohioans some of their best shooting throughout the state.

Rabbits present no such problem. They are prolific enough to keep the fields well stocked despite the millions killed each hunting season. Birds seem to lack this quality and only through human assistance can their numbers be maintained.

Legal protection of the quail has been a failure. So long as hunting is forbidden, no one is interested in the culture of the birds but once they are restored to the same list they will be propagated on a large scale, hunters' fees paying the entire cost.

Boylston street has the biggest of the brightly awninged sidewalk cafes. Probably twice the size of New York's largest, Chatham walk. And almost the size of the Cafe de la Paix. It manages to acquire a diluted continental aura, and despite the autumnal chill, was well patronized.

We dined at the highly bespoke Longfellow's Wayside Inn at Sudbury—like Sunbury with a "code in de hed"—a 25-mile drive. Attendants try to give it an unnecessary and tip-toey historical hush. One rather longs to let go a war-whoop. Food is excellently home cooked and the 16th century house will delight students of period collections. It does not need to be hoked-up. As a bowl of fresh, creamy milk I found the best I ever tasted at this inn.

On the return this morning, walking the dog, the Boston while harness seemed to churn a passing Buddy into fine fury. Pivoting slowly as we passed, she called with exquisite scorn: "Shame and I'd rather be . . . drinking . . . a sick jack-ass!"

Glancing Backward

TEN YEARS AGO.

It was Thursday, Sept. 27, 1923.

Minister of Defense Gessler was appointed dictator of the German nation, with full executive powers.

Tentative plans for establishment of a summer tuberculosis camp for children in Marion county was made at a meeting of the Kiwanis club.

Marion Lodge of Elks indorsed John G. Price of Columbus for the office of grand exalted ruler.

Plans for an exceptionally elaborate program of athletics said to be the largest ever promoted in the history of Marion county schools were outlined at a meeting of all supervisors of schools of the county, with the county athletic commission.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard R. Mapes, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Allen, Dr. and Mrs. Frank R. Mann, Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Spaulding, Jesse Klemm and Malcolm Strelitz entertained at a dance at the Marion Country club.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

It was Saturday, Sept. 27, 1913.

Mrs. Jane Mitchell, 80, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Norman Brooks, in Kirkpatrick.

The Marion Local High school football team defeated Marion High school at the fairgrounds, 7-6.

At a luncheon party given at her home, Miss Marguerite Krause announced her engagement to James C. Woods. The marriage was to be an event early in the next year.

Spencer D. Burt, 66, died at his home in Caledonia.

Alexander Robinson, 80, died at his home near Caledonia.

TOMBS OF PRESIDENTS IN OHIO.

Virginia holds a slight edge over Ohio in the number of Presidents buried in her soil.

All the Presidents who were Virginia born were buried in that state excepting only William Henry Harrison, who was interred at his home, North Bend in Hamilton county, Ohio.

Of the eight Presidents that Ohio gave to the nation, three were buried in other states—Grant in Riverside Park in New York City, Benjamin Harrison in Indiana, and William Howard Taft, in the Arlington National Cemetery, Washington.

Ohio has the tombs of four of her native sons who reached the presidency, and a cenotaph that of General Harrison, a native of Virginia. The tomb of President Hayes is at Marion, that of James A. Garfield at Cleveland, McKinley's at Canton and Hayes at Fremont.

Washington And Wall Street

BY GEORGE DURNO

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 — Already, at this early date, gentlemen of the Brain Trust and others are conjuring up new tricks for congress to perform next January.

When President Roosevelt called his special session last March he had virtually all of his emergency program mapped out. He fed it out to Capitol Hill so fast the boys never had a chance to catch their breath.

Next winter's meet will see a repetition of this act—if somebody doesn't kick over the apple-cart.

"Never give the other fellow a chance to think" is a time-honored axiom of all games of skill and endurance. The administration board of strategy is realizing more each day it must keep Congress on the run if it is to get results as Mr. Roosevelt wants them.

To this end a calendar for the coming session is being worked out far in advance of the usual time. The administration hopes to crowd it sufficiently to keep the boys out of any wayside mischief.

Troubles

There have been plenty of advance warnings that the regular session won't be the same bed of roses for the President as he found last spring.

The farm sections are squawking about the way their emergency relief agencies have been functioning. Inflationists are getting ready to bust if Washington doesn't shrink the dollar their way. States will be demanding even more direct relief. Patronage isn't being dispensed to suit.

Most of these complaints are coming from Democrats. The Republicans may even get bold enough to snipe at the whole set-up—if they get the chance.

Radio

A modicum of criticism is being leveled at certain angles of the Democratic National committee's recent decision to gag its radio speakers.

In case you hadn't heard about it, National Chairman-Postmaster General Jim Farley wrote to all Cabinet officers and important Democrats recently advising them that Richard F. Roper, executive secretary of the committee and son of the Secretary of Commerce, would pass on all future manuscripts for the ether waves.

When and if Roper okays them Herbert L. Pettey, secretary of the Federal Radio Commission, has been designated to get the speakers free time on the networks.

Diet

The theory of this is twofold. First, headquarters doesn't want anybody going off half-cocked and second, it is desired to give the country a balanced diet of administration propaganda.

A general always has the right to command his army but the idea of putting Pettey in charge of getting "free time" is rubbing some of the purists the wrong way.

The radio commission doles out wave lengths to the broadcasting stations and otherwise regulates them. It is being pointed out that having the commission secretary coax gratis air time is just like designating Railroad Administrator Eastman to wangle free transportation for the faithful.

Associations

The biggest fleas on NRA, to hear Blue Eagle officials talk privately, are the trade association secretaries.

They're fighting for their jobs and in so doing they're holding up the well known wheels of progress.

NRA is trying its darndest to consolidate a lot of closely-knit industries into single codes. If they succeed there won't be much use for quite a few trade associations any more.

For instance some of the better minds figure that one code could blanket the plumbing industry. That wouldn't do at all for the men who make a living representing faucet manufacturers or the makers of certain kinds of pipe and other allied gadgets.

Not content with battling for individual codes NRA bears some of the more enterprising secretaries are going out and organizing new trade associations.

Covered

An observer who gets around Washington compared NRA to a fire company the other day.

"They have rushed to the scene of the conflagration unlimbered the hose and carried the nozzle right to the heart of the flames only to discover someone had forgotten to screw the hose to the hydrant."

This simile clicks here because although about 1,000 codes have been filed with other thousands in the making, only 30 have been signed by all concerned and put into effect.

The Blue Eagle boys have a good answer to this. They point out first that 91 per cent of all industry is under the blanket code while waiting its turn.

Further they say that codes are being heard at the rate of five and six a day. Some of them get past the hearing stage in as little as 45 minutes.

Notes

General C. C. Williams, NRA deputy administrator and son-in-law of the late Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, was asked what he thought the old G. O. P. warhorse would say about his service with the Blue Eagle. "I imagine the old gentleman is halfway out of his grave right now," admitted the general. Leo Sack, new minister to Costa Rica, was tendered a party by Assistant Secretary of State "Pickwick" Payer. Sack got an invitation on which was noted, "to meet the Hon. Leo Sack." That was for his scrap book. Washington hotels are going to get theirs with the World Series and the A. F. of L. convention superimposed on NRA, AAA, FERA and all the other initials.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27—Chairman Jesse Jones was a visitor in town last week. He chatted with New York bankers and the boys certainly took him over the bumps.

He innocently inquired when the capital market was going to loosen up. He intimated he would like to do some refunding on behalf of the RFC along the lines of that undertaken by the war finance board. The bankers cut loose on him foot and guns—told him there was nothing on capital financing as long as the Securities Act remains unamended. He didn't seem to believe them as as a group so each banker present repeated the statement individually. It is reported that Mr. Jones was surprised at the fervor of their sentiments.

Then he put on a big sales act on behalf of the RFC preferred stock plan. Told them he knew they didn't need the money but there were lots of banks that did but which were afraid to try it because it might be interpreted as a confession of weakness.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27—Chairman Jesse Jones was a visitor in town last week. He chatted with New York bankers and the boys certainly took him over the bumps.

He innocently inquired when the capital market was going to loosen up. He intimated he would like to do some refunding on behalf of the RFC along the lines of that undertaken by the war finance board. The bankers cut loose on him foot and guns—told him there was nothing on capital financing as long as the Securities Act remains unamended. He didn't seem to believe them as as a group so each banker present repeated the statement individually. It is reported that Mr. Jones was surprised at the fervor of their sentiments.

Then he put on a big sales act on behalf of the RFC preferred stock plan. Told them he knew they didn't need the money but there were lots of banks that did but which were afraid to try it because it might be interpreted as a confession of weakness.

So if only some strong bank would set the pace, etc., etc. One banker spoke up: "How much stock do you think we ought to sell the RFC if we acted?" Jones guessed about two or three million dollars. The banker said: "Do you realize that we have a hundred times that in capital funds now? Why don't we look silly asking a billion to a stick pile?" And that was that.

Face

But in spite of the rebuff they gave Mr. Jones the New York banks are discussing the possibility of accepting the preferred stock scheme through some sort of collective setup. This would include all the important institutions. The details haven't been settled but some development along this line appears likely. Most local bankers are just a little nervous about bucking the government too long and too strenuously. They wouldn't object to finding an exit that would satisfy the government and let them save their faces.

Whitewash

But credit relief, whether through sale of collective stock or otherwise, will not come about through the local bankers' NRA credit committee, recently appointed with a flourish of trumpets.

The committee's mission in life is theoretically to weight the complaints of business men who have been unable to obtain credit and see what can be done about extending them loans. Its actual object is to confirm the judgment of the bankers who refused such loans by appraising them as too risky for normal banking operations. The acts of single banks are to be confirmed by the collective wisdom of the representatives of many banks.

The one for all and all for one principle is more active in New York banking today than it has been for a long, long time.

Different

There are figures and figures when you come to talk about the purchasing power locked up in closed banks.

The generally accredited estimate runs between seven and a half and eight billion dollars. That is approximately correct as to gross deposits. But New York experts point out that it makes no allowance for deposits offset by loans. The best information available indicates that these would run from 50 to 60 per cent of the total. This would leave from three to four billion dollars of actual net deposits to be hailed out by the government and delivered to the depositors.

That's quite a different proposition from eight billion. It makes any government plan to thaw out the closed banks (recently referred to in our Washington column) much more practicable. New York expects action through a Federal liquidating corporation formed for that specific purpose.

Public Works

Insiders will tell you that the delay in the public works program is more than a matter of red tape and conscientiousness. There is a serious point of issue between the government and contractors.

Secretary Ickes is demanding fixed price contracts. The contractors claim they cannot do business on that basis because they don't know what labor and material costs are going to be. They want the old juicy cost plus system. Mr. Ickes knows how easily skeletons can be hidden in closets by scaling up costs under this arrangement and says no dice. And there the matter rests.

Neither side shows any sign of giving ground and strong intervention from the White House may be needed to save this important part of the recovery program.

Convert

New York notes with glee that Floyd Carlisle of Consolidated Gas has suddenly become an ardent NRA enthusiast. He and Atterbury have come across handsomely (no matter what their off-the-record opinions are of what about Andy Mellon?). They wonder if Carlisle's conversion could possibly be due to a pending appeal to the Federal courts to kill off that awkward rate reduction inflicted on Con. Gas subsidiaries by New York State.

Anyway there's no harm trying.

CUBAN GOVERNMENT RULING PROTESTED

250,000 Members of Spanish Societies To Assemble for Demonstration.

By The Associated Press

HAVANA, Sept. 27—More than 250,000 members of Spanish societies ... planned to assemble today to protest a government decree forcing all practicing physicians to affiliate with the national medical federation.

Virtually all commercial activity in Havana and other important cities were to halt at noon to permit workers to participate in the nationwide demonstrations.

Speculation went the rounds as to whether the closing of business would be for just one day, or would continue.

The controversy between the federated physicians and the Spanish societies has been going on for more than a year and reached a climax recently with the decree of the Ramon Grau San Martin government.

The trouble started when 3,000 federated physicians went on strike and demanded the societies discontinue admitting persons of means to membership at the same low prices as poorer persons.

Members of the societies get free medical attention. Physicians maintained the organizations were preventing them from building up a legitimate practice among wealthier persons.

of field deputy, a salaried officer who would work over the state to increase membership, has been withdrawn, members said this morning. It was understood there was considerable opposition to the measure, because of the expense involved.

To Vote on Pension

The resolution favoring indorsement of the state old age pension law was drafted last night at a meeting of the legislative committee. The committee also drew up other business matters, which were not made public. The committee includes a Marion man, Henry H. O'Dowd, in addition to Probate Judge Charles E. Chittenden of Toledo, chairman, James Nali of Cleveland, A. J. Holt of Cincinnati and D. H. Jones of Mt. Vernon.

The lodge's approval of the resolution, members said, means the backing of 60,000 lodge members in the state for the old age pension cause.

A. R. The ceremony will be held Nov. 16 in the Pythian Castle of Springfield under the auspices of the four Springfield lodges. The degree work will be given by Findlay lodge No. 83. Grand Chancellor Snyder will attend and Supt. Brane invited all others to be present. The youths to take the esquire work are Joe Clauss, John Eddy, Bernard Rogers, James Bateman, Kenneth Smith and Paul Moorman.

Prominent Ohioans at Convention Here

A number of men who figure prominently in Ohio affairs were in Marion yesterday and today as visitors and delegates to the sixty-fourth annual state convention of the Knights of Pythias, closing today.

Among the celebrities here were Warden P. E. Thomas of the Ohio penitentiary in Columbus, who is a brigadier general of the uniform rank of Columbus lodge No. 3; George W. Bish of Dayton, grand master of the exchequer and a member of the city commission of Dayton; Henry Maulberger of Cleveland, secretary to Supreme Chancellor James Dunn Jr. and formerly a Cleveland city councilman and a former state representative; C. C. Williams, city safety director of Columbus and Ross E. Anderson, sheriff of Franklin county.

During his one term as congressman, from 1920 to 1922, he delivered a speech in which he arraigned the "picayune and decadent nothingness of the house."

He was the foe of "old world entanglements" and an active leader of opposition to "professional drys." He condemned with his pen the Versailles treaty and the League of Nations and was one of the outstanding critics of President Wilson's world stand. He cast his vote against the soldiers' "bonus" in 1921.

Two years after he retired from congress he ran as an independent Republican candidate for governor, on a platform waging war on the dry league and the utilities interests but was defeated.

Until five years ago he actively led the development of the Beacon Journal, and he continued to write editorials marked by candor and wit until two years ago. Failing health made it necessary for him to turn the management over to his son John S. Knight.

Opposed Dry Group

While a congressman he wrote a letter to M. C. Robinson, a dry leader of Ashtabula, O., which became widely known as an example of his opposition to the Anti-Saloon league. It contained these lines:

"I have no quarrel with the Anti-Saloon league but when it arrogates to itself the functions of a political machine and insists upon the right to cut and fit all candidates to its procrustean bed, I respectfully decline to be a victim.

"I would rather be a yellow dog and bay at the moon than such a candidate. Before I would yield to such demands, I would set fire to what I have and by its light leave Ohio and take to raising speckled peas on some windy hillside with a bon-tailed bull."

Besides his son, John S. Knight, he is survived by the widow, a sister, Mrs. Belle Self of Italy, Tex., and another son, James L.

Veteran Officers of Ohio Pythian Sisters in Marion

The oldest past officers and the youngest past chief, together with a number of other veteran past grand officers are attending the annual grand temple meeting of Ohio Pythian Sisters which will close tonight with a banquet honoring the new officers, at Hotel Marion.

Mrs. Flora Hydrick of Canton, 78, has a record of nearly half a century in the membership of the organization and Mrs. Rebecca Little of Covington, O., who has been a Pythian Sister for 42 years, has the distinction of being the youngest Pythian Sister to be elevated to the office of grand chief.

Mrs. Fannie Munea of Topeka, Kan. a member of the Mamusburg temple, came the longest distance to be present at the convention. She has been a member of the organization 32 years and in that time has missed only two grand sessions. Her trip this year is the second to be made from Topeka to attend the session.

A record for attendance belongs to Mrs. Viola Shook, 78, of Akron who has been a member of the grand session for 35 years and has never missed a session. She was created a past grand officer at the institution of the temple at Doylestown 35 years ago.

Dinner last night at Hotel Marion brought together Mrs. Viola Shook of Akron, Mrs. Ruth Sutter of Youngstown, Mrs. Rebecca Little of Covington, Mrs. Fannie Munea of Topeka, Kas. and Mrs. Edith Newkirk of Dayton, past chiefs who have met at state conventions for a number of years with an enviable record for attendance.

Mrs. Sutton has been a member of the Pythian Sisters for 39 years and has attended 33 consecutive grand lodge sessions. Mrs. Little with a record of 42 years has missed only three grand sessions. Mrs. Munea and Mrs. Edith Newkirk of Dayton, who has been a past grand chief for 22 years and has not missed a session since 1915.

RELATIVE OF KELLY ADMITS PLOT PART

wife, Kathryn, were hurriedly arraigned last night and charged with the Urschel kidnaping. United States Commission Brenner set their bond at $100,000 each.

"Not guilty," snarled Kelly when the warrant was read. His wife also denied the charges.

Bonds Set at $100,000

Bonds of $100,000 were also fixed for John C. Tichenor, crippled automobile mechanic, and his brother-in-law, S. E. Travis, at whose home Kelly was captured. Tichenor told officers the Kellys rented a room with him last Friday and that he had no idea who they were.

Mrs. Kelly said she was ready to go back to Oklahoma City to stand trial.

Kelly sat in his cell peering into the muzzles of machine guns and various other armaments surrounding his all-steel cage. He told a guard to "tell the world that I will be out of this jail before long." He added as an afterthought: "They got me, but keeping me is another matter."

$73,250 in Ransom Money Recovered

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27—The justice department announced today that $73,250 of the Urschel ransom money had been located buried in a cotton patch on a farm near Coleman, Tex.

The farm is occupied by Cass Coleman, described by officials as an uncle of Kathryn Kelly, wife of "Machine Gun" Kelly. Coleman was arrested.

Mrs. Shannon Again on Stand

By The Associated Press

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 27—Mrs. R. G. Shannon, wife of the Paradise, Tex., farmer at whose home Charles F. Urschel was held for ransom, was questioned anew today as the ninth day of the kidnaping conspiracy trial opened.

Her own attorneys questioned her on re-direct examination after Joseph B. Keenan, assistant United States attorney general, had spent two hours trying to shake her story of coercion at the hands of her son-in-law, George Kelly, and Albert Bates both of whom now are in custody.

Armon Shannon, the next witness said he conferred with Kelly several days before Urschel was brought to his home.

"George Kelly asked me if I would like to make some money and I said I would. He said I could do it if I would do what he said," Armon testified. "Kelly said if I didn't do what he told me he would shoot me with the machine gun." Armon said.

Armon was cross-examined by Joseph B. Keenan, assistant U. S. attorney general.

"Did you know Urschel was a kidnaped man?" Keenan said.

"No, I thought he was brought there by Bates and Kelly so the law might not catch him. That's what I thought."

50,000 PERISH IN CHINESE FLOODS

By The Associated Press

NANKING, China, Sept. 27—Floods of the swollen Yellow river in July and August caused the deaths of 50,000 Chinese and reduced 1,000,000 others to starvation.

These estimates were made today after a survey by aviators and officials of a relief commission which is now trying to rush supplies to the stricken peasantry.

Portable apparatus that can be taken to fields has been invented to freeze vegetables as rapidly as they are gathered and package them for shipment.

CRUSADERS TO SEEK SANE LIQUOR LAWS

CLEVELAND, Sept. 27—Fred G. Clark national commander of the Crusaders, today announced the opening of a campaign for enactment in all states of same liquor control laws.

Asserting "failure to act, or a passive attitude at this time, will assist the politicians who decide either an uncontrolled or a politically controlled liquor traffic," he said:

"We must act quickly, and get the jump on the political pirates who are conspiring with the present illicit liquor interests for control of the after-repeal-legalized-liquor traffic. We may have years of chaos before our purpose is accomplished.

Clark charged the forces of Al Capone in Chicago were mapping a program aimed at writing into the Illinois statutes legislation that will give them supremacy in liquor distribution in that state.

The Crusaders, who campaigned for repeal of the Eighteenth amendment, are opposed to return of the saloon, Clark said.

Tiger Whipped; New York To Keep Market

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 27—The Tammany administration whipped by a knockout in what some observers called a game of bluff and others called deadly earnest, faced two new menaces today.

One arose in the form of a [illegible] and the other in the shape of a man named Samuel Seabury.

Friday is payday for city workers—backbone of the Tammany machine. The city needs a $23,000,000 loan to fill the envelopes. So far bankers have not agreed to advance the sum.

Seabury, whose investigation led to the resignation of Mayor James J. Walker, arrived from Europe last night refreshed and eager to campaign for Fiorello H. LaGuardia, fusion mayoral aspirant. If the city will see an anti-Tammany Democrat helping an independent Republican to try to smash the regular Democratic machine.

Seabury did not comment on the fight between Mayor John P. O'Brien's administration and the stock exchange. That fight ended last night when O'Brien, revising his position, vetoed two city bills that would have taxed stock transfers and the incomes of security dealers. The exchange thereupon dropped its plan to move to Newark, N. J.

The meeting will begin with a dinner at 6:30, for which reservations must be made at Hotel Marion by noon Thursday, Mr. Brown said. All contributors to the industrial insurance fund are invited, he said.

An open forum in which Mr. Evans will answer questions related to the industrial insurance fund, from which an average of $1,500,000 collected from contributors to the fund is paid each month for the death and injury of Ohio workmen will follow the address, Mr. Brown said.

The first major meeting of the drive was held Monday night when five civic and service organizations held a joint dinner meeting in Hotel Harding to hear Thomas M. Gregory, chairman of the industrial commission, speak.

Dowler Issues Report

Harry L. Dowler, chairman of the countywide safety campaign, reported this morning that industrial commission speakers had carried safety messages into 40 meetings in industrial plants, schools and organizations up to this morning. He said 6,758 persons had been reached in these meetings, and that additional meetings have been booked for Thursday and Friday.

In yesterday's schedule 18 meetings including 12 in industrial plants were held and 1,473 persons reached with safety messages, Mr. Dowler said.

Today's schedule of safety talks follows: North Main street school, 8:30 a. m.; Marion Steam Shovel Co. foremen, 8 a. m.; Central Junior High school, 10:45 a. m.; Susquehanna Silk Mill's 12 m.; Erie roundhouse, 12 m.; Marion Brass & Bronze Co., 12 m.; Marion Steel Body Co., 12 m.; Oak street school, 1 p. m.; Mark street school, 2:30 p. m.; Marion Glass Mfg. 2 FINED AND JAILED ON DRIVING CHARGES

J. W. Jones, Harry Bolander Plead Guilty To Operating Car While Drunk.

J. W. Jones, 50, of 576 Henry street, and William Bolander of Uncapher avenue were committed to the county jail yesterday after being fined $100 and costs each by Municipal Judge William B. Martin on charges of driving while intoxicated.

A third charge of driving while intoxicated, against H. R. Doan of 459 Windsor street, was to come up in municipal court today. Doan is free on bond of $500 posted after he was arrested following an accident with an Upper Sandusky car on East Center street Monday afternoon. He had not been arraigned at noon.

Doan is charged with having driven his car into the back of a car driven by Mrs. Roy Sampley of Upper Sandusky. Mrs. Adam Paul of Upper Sandusky, an occupant of the Sampley car, suffered neck injuries in the accident.

Jones and Bolander were arrested Sunday and had pleaded not guilty Monday to the charges. Both changed their pleas to guilty. Driving rights of both men were suspended for six-month periods.

When a new hand log is opened an electric light is said to illuminate its interior.

MARION COUNTY BOYS RAISE TON LITTERS

Wilbur Renz and Paul Waddell of Waldo Gain Club Membership.

Two Marion county boys, Wilbur Renz and Paul Waddell of the Waldo vocational agriculture department have gained membership this year in the Ohio Ton-Litter club by raising litters of pigs to the weight of at least one ton in 180 days.

Renz's ton litter, his first was produced from a pure bred Duroc gilt which he is raising as a school project. The litter of 11 pigs weighed 2,357 pounds on the one hundred and seventy-sixth day. When a litter is weighed within three days of the end of the 180 day period, two pounds per pig per day is allowed to make the correct weight for the full time period giving the litter a full time weight of 2,379 pounds, Lest Lukens, vocational instructor explained.

Waddell's litters are his second. Last year he raised one of the heaviest litters of 10 pigs ever produced in the state. The litter weighed 2,570 pounds at the end of the 180 days. This year he raised two ton litters from pure bred Durocs as a part of his school project.

The litters were sold at the end of 160 and 168 days respectively, and the correct weights figured on the 180 day scale were 2,195 and 2,110 pounds.

A ruling made last year permits a boy to sell his pigs anytime within 30 days of the end of the six months period and to make a correction by adding or subtracting 165 pounds per pig per day.

According to Mr. Lukens, vocational agriculture instructor both boys kept accurate feed and labor records on their projects and consider ton litter raising profitable.

LINKS TEAM BEING FORMED AT HARDING

Scholastic Golfers Hope To Play First Match Saturday.

A new sport was added to the Harding High athletic program today with the announcement that a golf team is being organized. A team of six, with two alternates, will be chosen and several matches are expected to be played this fall. None have been scheduled yet but it is hoped to schedule the first one next Saturday. Russell Dunlap, commercial instructor at Harding, will be in charge of the team. The school is not backing the team, the interested boys having assumed full responsibility.

Prospective members of the team have been practicing at the Mar-O-Del golf club and home matches will be played on that course. Dan Roesner has been turning in the lowest totals, his best effort being a 39 for nine holes. Others seeking places are "Shorty" Hoffhines, Walter Ruzzo, John Dodd, John Warner, Les Voltz, Bob Baker and Don Quaintance.

SHARKEY FAVORED IN LOUGHRAN CONTEST

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 27—Two comeback trails cross tonight when Jack Sharkey, former king of the heavyweights, meets skillful Tommy Loughran. Fistic oblivion seems certain for the loser.

For 15 rounds or less the Boston sailor and the Philadelphia ring general will wage warfare in the Phillies ball park, each bent on victory as a long step on the way back to the top.

Sharkey goes into the ring with about 10-pound weight edge, scaling in the neighborhood of 200 pounds to Loughran's 190.

The last time these two ring warriors squared off—four years ago in New York—Sharkey was very close to the top, and Loughran had just given up his light-heavyweight crown to begin what appeared a rosy future among the heavies.

Sharkey rules the money favorite with the bettors.

The Right Move

IT has taken a long time to get around to it but Harding seems to be on the right pathway at last in its efforts to produce a good football team. The newly adopted system isn't likely to produce results overnight. In fact, it will probably be a matter of a few years before the system takes full effect but once momentum is gained, Harding football coaches will not have to worry about their supply of gridiron material.

The system to which I am referring is that of starting the boys of the city's three junior high schools to learning the fundamentals of football. For the first time last Monday, something like 60 boys from the three schools were put through their paces at the silk mill practice field and yesterday the number was swelled to approximately 75. Bob Keller, former varsity halfback who was graduated last spring, is in charge of the boys at the present but as the work advances, it will probably be taken over by one of the regular coaching staff.

Any Future Stars?

THE collection of boys who comprise the junior high squad include several who look as though they might be the answers to coaches' prayers for successors to some of Harding's varsity squad within the next two or three years. The squad will be very carefully combed for boys who show promise of developing into future stars with particular attention paid to boys in the seventh and eighth grades.

The calling of the junior high boys into action is probably the most important move made yet in Harding's efforts to regain a place in the football sun. I have a suspicion that the Presidents are not going to be the doormat of the North Central Ohio league for so many more years. They've been at the bottom just about long enough!

In the Haedlines

AT least two Marion boys and one former resident here figure to be in the headlines before the current football season is completed. Unfortunately, two of them are playing with schools so far from here that local fans will probably not get an opportunity to see them in action.

The three are Bob Smith of Ohio Wesleyan, Dick McAninch of Duke university and Walter Marting of Yale university. There may possibly be some others who are destined to gain varsity posts at other schools but if there are I don't recall them at the moment.

Smith has been given the inside track in the race for one of the regular tackle posts on the Ohio Wesleyan eleven, which, incidentally, promises to be plenty tought for Buckeye conference foes. McAninch is back at Duke after a year at Ohio State university and is expected to "go places and do things" under the direction of Wallace Wade, one of the nation's better football coaches. Marting never played football in Marion and does not live here now, having moved to Upper Sandusky recently. He played with Yale last year, scoring a touchdown in Yale's annual clash with Harvard. He is being boomed as one of the stars of the Eli team this season.

10 Veterans Give Oberlin Brighter Grid Prospects

By The Associated Press

OBERLIN, Sept. 27—With ten returning veterans to bolster its prospects, Oberlin college faces one of its most promising football seasons in recent years.

"The injury jinx and the finding of a suitable pair of ends are my principal worries," said Coach Lysle K. Butler, reviewing the varsity, seven of whom are seniors.

"Last year three of our best men, Captain Elmer Barker, Frank Berry and Jack Kennedy, tackles, were lost the entire season because of injuries. The end positions are weak but we expect to get that into shape before the first game with Rochester Saturday."

"Almost every college on our season schedule has from six to ten veterans.

A backfield of veterans averaging 175 pounds will aid the squad materially, Butler said. Captain Dean K. Ruth, quarterback; Carleton Smith and Henry Pfaff are expected to form the nucleus for the ball carrying quartet.

Coach Butler also has three veteran guards, and two veteran tackles. Charles McClain, a letterman, has been given a trying at end and may land one of the jobs. Dutton and Shoelenberger are competing with a quartet of sophomores for the other wing.

FANS HUNT CAUSE TO "FIRE" FONSECA

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Sept. 27—Now that Charlie Grimm's job as manager of the Cubs is safe for another year, baseball fans are beginning to search for reasons to "fire" Lew Fonseca, manager of the Chicago White Sox.

Fonseca's two-year contract as Sox manager expires Sunday although he will be boss during the city series which begins Oct. 4. White Sox officials have made no announcement regarding Fonseca's status.

CANTWELL PITCHES TWENTIETH VICTORY OVER NEW YORK, 5-3

Phils Close Home Season by Beating Brooklyn Robins, 3-2.

Associated Press Sports Writer.

If Ben Cantwell had remained with the New York Giants, the club which first brought him up to the National league, he might now be figuring in a pennant in the world series deal.

Instead he was traded to the Boston Braves and toiled there without much success until he suddenly burst forth this season as one of the league's outstanding hurlers. The tall, lean right hander was right at the top of the list today with 20 games won and nine lost.

Cantwell chalked up No. 20 yesterday at the expense of the champion Giants beating them for the fourth time this year, 5 to 3.

The Phillies and the Brooklyn Dodgers, seventh and sixth respectively in the National league and with no chance of going higher, played the only other big league game. The Phils closing their home season with an exciting ninth inning rally with 3 runs and made it a little more certain that they will finish ahead of the cellar dwelling Cincinnati Reds.

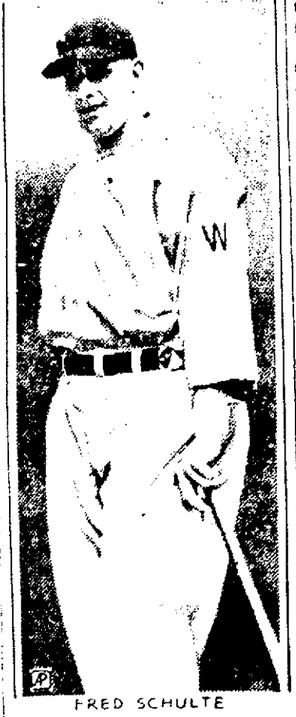
LEFT HANDERS IN TITULAR STRUGGLE

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 27—E. G. Lavesay of Columbus, O., and Charles H. Tesker, of Cleveland, were the pace-setters today for a small field seeking the national championship for left handed golfers. Live is the defending titleholder. Over the first 18 holes of the 72 hole race each carded an 80.

Rod Needs of Cleveland and Thomas Barr of Pittsburgh were tied for third with 83s. Three more Clevelanders, Frank Page, Art E. Johnson and F. L. Gallagher, registered 84s.

in the Series



FRED SCHULTE

This is the eighth of a series of sketches on individual stars of the Washington Senators and New York Giants, world series rivals.

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON — When Clark Griffith announced last winter that he had traded Sam West, his star center fielder, to the St. Louis Browns for Fred Schulte, a mighty howl went up from Washington baseball fans.

They had come to regard West as the last thing in outfielders. The experts, too, shook their heads and expressed the opinion the "Old Fox" had made a mistake.

Well, West has made a great record with the Browns this year, but "Gussie" Schulte has had an equally successful year with the Nationals. His fielding has been a revelation to the Nat bosses and his hitting in the first part of the season virtually "carried" the club.

Griffith says that while he regretted having to part with West, he still believes he got the better of the bargain. West has the better batting average, but Schulte has driven in more runs. Both have been star performers in the field.

Fred got his early experience with semi-pro teams near Belvidere, Ill., where he was born 29 years ago. After a sensational season with Waterloo, Ia., he went to Milwaukee and was sold at a reported price of $75,000 to the Browns at the close of the 1926 campaign.

He remained with the Browns until he was traded last winter, though he was handicapped for three years at St. Louis on account of injuries.

RAIN MAKES PUZZLE OF MOUND CHOICES FOR SERIES CONFLICTS

Tuesday Game Rained Out; Night Clash on Tap Today.

By The Associated Press

TOLEDO, Sept. 27—The weather as the pitching selections provided two puzzles in the little world series as the Columbus Red Birds and the Buffalo Bisons deadlocked at one game each after rain postponed their third game.

The weatherman said there might be showers in Ohio today and tonight. It was the weatherman who balked last night's festivities.

Buffalo won the opener and the Birds took the second contest both daylight affairs. The postponed game will be played tonight, weather permitting, on a lighted field and the fourth game is scheduled in similar surroundings tomorrow night.

After four games have been played here the teams will barge off to Buffalo. A string of five victories will decide the series.

Horse had been announced by Rhodes as Gallivan by Schalk for last night's encounter. Indications were the selections would stand for tonight.

Sophomore Stars Boost Grid Hopes at Princeton

By The Associated Press

PRINCETON, N. J., Sept. 27—Herbert O. (Fritz) Crisler, mentor of one Princeton campaign, faced thoughtfully on the biggest, best looking squad of football players old Nassau has seen gathered on the home side of the stadium field in many a year.

It's the group that has recaptured the university and the experts and brought back visions of the days when the Tigers were the mighty men of the east.

"They look good all right," he said. Then he shook his head "But they're still sophomores."

He struck straight at the heart of his problem. He has some of the best looking sophomore material reporting to any coach in the country. But they're still sophomores.

"It will take at least a year," he said, "to harden them under fire. Some of them seem certain to develop, some will fall just shy of varsity grade, a tough standard these days. I'm afraid there's been

Court of Common Pleas, Marion County, Ohio, Case No. ...
The Marion Building, Savings and Loan Company, Plaintiff, vs.

R. W. Harvey, being the same person as Robert W. Harvey, et al., Defendants.

In pursuance of an Order of Sale issued from said Court to me directed in the above entitled action, I will expose to sale, at public auction, at the door of the Court House in Marion, Marion County, Ohio, on Saturday, the 14th day of October, 1933, at 10 o'clock, A. M., the following described real estate, situate in the County of Marion and State of Ohio, and in the City of Marion, to-wit:

Known as being a part of Lots Nos. Twelve Thousand and ninety-one (12091) and Twelve Thousand and Ninety-two (12092) in W. T. Jones' 4th Addition to the City of Marion, Ohio, described as follows: Commencing at the Southeast corner of said Lot No. 12091 in the North line of Wallace Street; thence West along the South line of said Lot No. 12091 and the North line of Wallace Street, Three (3) feet to a point, the place of beginning; thence North on a line parallel to the East line of said Lot No. 12092 to a point in the North line of said lot; said point being three (3) feet West of the Northeast corner of said lot; thence west along the North line of said lots Nos. 12091 and 12092, sixty (60) feet to a point Three (3) feet East of the Northwest corner of said lot No. 12092; thence in a Southerly direction to a point in the South line of said Lot No. 12092 and the North line of Wallace Street, which said point is One (1) foot East of the Southwest corner of said Lot No. 12092; thence East along the South line of Lots Nos. 12092 and 12091 and the North line of Wallace Street Sixty-two (62) feet to the place of beginning.

The tract of land herein conveyed fronting Sixty-two (62) feet on Wallace Street and being Sixty (60) feet in width at the rear. A strip of ground Six (6) feet in width off of the North end of the premises herein conveyed is subject to an easement for the purpose of a joint private drive for the use of the owners of Lots Nos. 12092, 12091 and 12095 in said Addition.

The premises improved with one ... room modern ... now known as No. 324 Wallace ...

WHITENED SEPULCHERS can be compared to many ones today.

AUTO intoxication (self-poisoning) one of the most horrible forms of INWARD REEKING uncleanliness—human filth EFLUVIA becomes absorbed — then eyes become misty (don't see good) hearing is dulled—limbs begin to stiffen, gait unsteady. You can begin to count only a few years of life ahead — shortened by PARALYSIS, APOPLEXY, heart or kidney failure. There is hope in HEPATIC TRITICUM (Lower's). People come hundreds of miles to purchase this remedy. Sold only by Lower's Pharmacy, Center and Leader.

NEBUCHADNEZZAR HAD VISIONS

Caesar had fits, Queen Elizabeth had tantrums. After it is all said and done it simmers down to one thing—NERVES.

MANY a war has been decided on nerves, many a railroad wreck, many a ship wreck, divorce cases, and family feuds and troubles have been traced to bad nerves. During this age of apprehension, many cases of high nerve tension are developing, which may lead to tragedy, suicide or insanity. LOWER'S ANTI NERVE TENSION ELIXIR can be depended upon in restoring a tranquil condition giving more happiness and improved health with normal nerves. On sale at Lower's Pharmacy, Center and Leader sts.

STOCK MARTS TURN BEARISH

Disheartened Traders Liquidate Holdings at Sharp Price Recessions.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27. The deflation of inflationary speculative enthusiasm gave security markets a bearish edge today and many disheartened traders liquidated their holdings at sharp price recessions.

There was little actual news that might have accounted for a resumption of the downward swing which carried commodity stocks to their lowest levels of the past several weeks. Various brokers were inclined to attribute fresh weakness of equities to growing uncertainties regarding monetary stabilization.

Grains were heavy and cotton easier. Other commodities were rather soft. Secondary bonds suggested that some investment issues and United States government securities were comparatively steady.

Utility issues generally showed some resistance to selling pressure but there was little support for other groups. Losses of 1 to 4 or more points at one time included Allied Chemical, American Can, American Telephone, Case, Chrysler, Du Pont, U. S. Steel, General Motors, Westinghouse, United Aircraft, Industrial Rayon, Western Union, National Distillers, U. S. Industrial Alcohol, American Commercial Alcohol, Seaboard Oil, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Santa Fe, Union Pacific, New York Central, U. S. Smelting, Homestake Mining, American Smelting and Alaska Juneau.

While banking circles were confident that some sort of clarification of the government's fiscal policies might be expected from Washington at any time, market observers were not so certain that an administration statement was imminent.

WHEAT PRICES STAGE RALLY

Values Move Higher In Final Sales After Earlier Downturn.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Sept. 27. Despite uncertainty shown much of the time today over Washington financial and industrial developments, wheat values rallied sharply at the last.

Houses with eastern connections became active buyers and were able to more than overcome earlier losses. Corn and oats were also accorded strong support, with some uneasiness shown as to likelihood of reduced estimates of 1933 corn yields.

TO DEDICATE NEW FIELD AT RICHWOOD

Forest, 1932 Heart of Ohio Champs, Scheduled for Game.

Special to The Star

RICHWOOD, Sept. 27—The Richwood gridmen are preparing for one of the hardest contests of the season when they meet Forest High school on the new athletic field here Friday. The visitors boast of a strong squad. They were champions of the Heart of Ohio League in 1932 and have most of their players back for the season.

Last year Forest went through the season undefeated and unscored on. The Richwood team is exceptionally strong this year and has proven its strength by holding Kenton to a scoreless tie. Richwood line is exceptionally strong with such men as Manley and Mahon at tackle, Rigney and Snyder at guard, Ainsworth and Mc grew are showing well at halfback positions.

It is expected that 500 fans will view the game at 3:30 p. m. The game will serve to dedicate the new gridiron.

GALION KIWANIANS TO SPONSOR SCOUTS

Committee Named To Supervise Project.

Special to The Star

GALION, Sept. 27—Rev. P. E. Auer of this city, lieutenant governor of Kiwanis for the fourth division, was in charge of initiation of two new members of the local club, J. E. Graham, and Edison Garverick, at the luncheon meeting Tuesday noon at Tuby's tavern.

George James, president of the local Boy Scout council spoke on scout work and its need in the community.

A feature of the program was a short talk by Herbert Cohen, high school boy, who attended the Boy Scout Jamboree at Budapest, last summer. Cohen spent two months in Europe.

Following the talks Kiwanians unanimously passed a motion to sponsor the Boy Scout movement in Galion. The Kiwanis committee in charge includes J. F. Remiller, Herman Plack, Don Mumford, Wilford Dickerson, and Dr. H. H. Rouzer.

The high school football squad will be entertained at next week meeting.

CHURCH IS SWEPT BY $200,000 FIRE

By The Associated Press

PORTSMOUTH, O., Sept. 27 — Second Presbyterian church here was nearly destroyed by fire early today.

The interior of the beautiful brown edifice was a mass of flames before the blaze was discovered shortly after 4 o'clock this morning. Firemen believed the fire started in the chapel adjoining the main auditorium from defective wiring and spread to the main part of the structure before it was discovered.

Built in 1910 at a cost of $200,000 the church was the third of the same name to be destroyed under mysterious circumstances in the last 40 years.

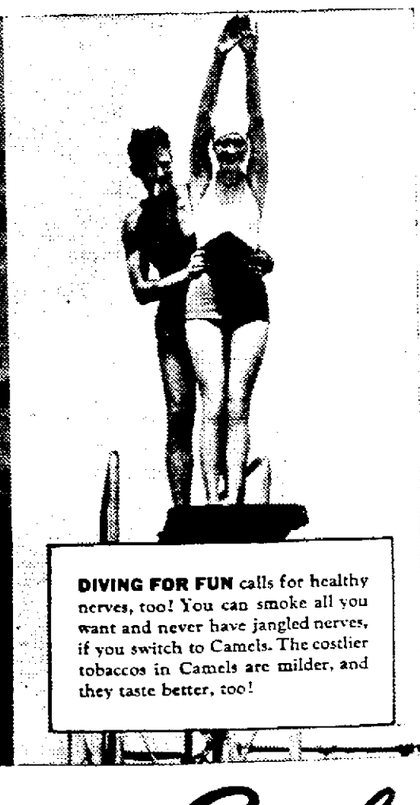
IT TAKES HEALTHY NERVES TO DIVE TO THE BOTTOM OF THE SEA

FRANK CRILLEY, champion deep-sea diver of the world, retired naval diver, holder of the Congressional Medal of Honor, the Navy Cross and other decorations, about to go over the side in a nerve-wracking, deep-sea descent. Crilley says: "I smoke Camels and have smoked them for years. They are a milder cigarette and they taste better. But more important than that to me—they never upset my nervous system."



DIVING FOR FUN calls for healthy nerves, too! You can smoke all you want and never have jangled nerves, if you switch to Camels. The costlier tobaccos in Camels are milder, and they taste better, too!

A MATCHLESS BLEND

IT IS MORE FUN TO KNOW

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.

Steady Smokers turn to Camels

FRANK CRILLEY says: "Deep down under 300 feet of water, working feverishly under terrific pressure—no place for a nervous man! That's why a diver's nerves must always be in perfect condition. And that's why I smoke Camels and have smoked them for years. They are a milder cigarette and they taste better. But more important than that to me—they never upset my nervous system." His heroic feats prove his statement.

Camel's costlier tobaccos are milder, do taste better. They never get on the nerves. Men and women whose very lives depend on healthy nerves have discovered this. Your nerves will confirm it. Start smoking Camels today and learn the difference.
